Dear concern,

I have just completed my B.Sc. in Computer Science and Engineering from Leading University, Sylhet and I wish to apply for the position of IT officer in your company. I have been informed for this post by Thousand careers which is one of the biggest job portal in Bangladesh.

As per the requirements needed for the position IT officer, I have complete knowledge of CCNA Mikrotik, Windows server and Linux server, maintaining router, Switch and Firewall, LAN, outlook configuration, good knowledge of hardware and networking, troubleshooting which gives me the confidence that I would be the appropriate individual for the post.

Staff India was pioneered by their founder, a former Management Consultant from Accenture. Having spent many years working in the IT domain with Accenture with top global and blue chip clients, their founder recognized a nice opportunity in the market to serve and support small and medium sized business. Until now, small and medium sized enterprises did not have the choice of hiring virtual assistants / employees to work remotely for them. Any effort to open an offshore office would prove resource intensive, costly and difficult to master foreign job markets. This is where they fit in and provide a simple solution for all their clients.

This is why I would like to work with your team and it will be very helpful for me if you give me this opportunity. My other information's are attached with my cv which I uploaded with this cover letter.

Respectfully yours,

Anjan Das
