

COVER LETTER

Dear Sir

I recently watch an advertisement that you are looking for a Digital Marketing Executive, and become pleased to see the posting on your web site was current. Please consider my application for the position.

I have an undergraduate degree in CSE from North East University Bangladesh, and have knowledge in e-marketing with a strong emphasis on search engine optimization and search engine marketing .

In the capacity of supporting the Marketing team, I recommend and implement the use of tools designed to improve results of campaigns. I also take the lead in training employees to use networking tools and social media platforms.

Learning from online I develop and implement digital marketing strategies that support marketing goals while at the same time respecting the company's bottom line. I am also familiar in market research, watch trends, and ensure the company's e-marketing plan takes advantage of the latest developments in technology and social networking.

From the above you can see that I am a well-trained and well-rounded professional who can have a positive impact on your firm. I would love to discuss the possibility of joining your team.

Respectfully,

Md. Monayem Bokth Majumder
